Introduction

Each year the State Records Office of WA (SRO) publishes an online Guide to State Cabinet records that have been released in the previous calendar year. Archived records of the Western Australian State Cabinet are released for public access 30 years after the records are created.

State Cabinet records are historically significant documents that reveal the decisions made by the government of the day. These unique records are the primary source documents for information about the issues raised at Cabinet meetings. This online Guide is intended to assist the Western Australian community to access these records.

This year's Guide reviews State Cabinet records, which comprise the minutes and decisions of Cabinet, dating from 9 January through to 18 December 1995. The Guide also provides an overview of Western Australian state issues in 1995, as well as highlighting prominent national and international news events of that year for context. A list of the topics and subjects discussed at each meeting of State Cabinet in 1995 is provided in this Guide to assist with further research into the records. This list includes a link to the SRO's online catalogue to enable the public to view relevant State Cabinet records online.

This year (2026) the Guide to the 1995 State Cabinet Records has been produced with the assistance of Mr Arian Alcantara, a Law and Society Arts student from the University of Western Australia, during a McCusker Centre for Citizenship Internship at the SRO. During his placement, Mr Alcantara researched 1995 State Cabinet Minutes and Decisions and Meeting Summaries, compiling a detailed list of Cabinet meeting subjects, as well as compiling sections on world, national and local events.

World Events that Made the News in 1995 [1]

On 1 January 1995, the World Trade Organisation was established, replacing the previous General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. Also in January, the city of Kobe, Japan, experienced a severe earthquake that caused the deaths of more than 6000 people and causing over $200 billion in damages. In March in Japan, members of Aum Shinrikyo cult orchestrated a chemical domestic terrorist act using sarin gas in the Tokyo subways in Japan, resulting in the deaths of 14 people with 1000 people left injured.

In April, Timothy McVeigh detonated a makeshift explosive outside of a Federal Building in Oklahoma City, killing 168 people, including 19 children and wounding 680 others. On 11 July, the President of United States of America, Bill Clinton, announced that relations between the USA and Vietnam would be restored. On the same day, units of the Army of Republika Srpska, under the command of General Mladić, entered Srebrenica in Bosnia, going on to kill thousands of Bosniak men and boys in an act of ethnic cleansing.

1995 was the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II. To mark the anniversary on 15 August, Tomiichi Murayama, the Japanese Prime Minister, released a statement outlining some of the war crimes and atrocities committed by Imperial Japan during World War II. In August, Windows 95 was released by Microsoft.

On 4 November, Yitzhak Rabin, the Prime Minister of Israel, was assassinated in Tel Aviv by an Israeli student while attending a peace rally. In December, the Galileo spacecraft, launched by NASA in 1989, entered the atmosphere of Jupiter.

In popular culture, Forrest Gump won 6 Academy awards, including Best Picture and Best Actor for Tom Hanks. In music, Oasis' Wonderwall, TLC's Waterfalls and Coolio's Gangsta's Paradise were some of the most notable hit songs to release in 1995. In sports, South Africa hosted and won the 1995 Rugby World Cup, beating New Zealand in the finals. Michael Schumacher won his second consecutive Drivers' Championship in Formula One and Steffi Graf won the women's final in the French Open. In basketball, the Houston Rockets, led by Hakeem Olajuwon, won back-to-back NBA Champions. Super Bowl XXIX was held in Miami, Florida, where the San Francisco 49ers beat the San Diego Chargers (49-26). October 3, 1995, marked the end of OJ Simpson's double murder trial. The disgraced actor and NFL star was acquitted of the charges.

Australian Events that Made the News in 1995 [2]

At the beginning of 1995, Alastair Nicholson, the Chief Justice of the Family Court of Australia, argued that homosexual couples and their children should be recognised as a family by law. On 30 January, John Howard became the leader of the Federal Liberal Party after the resignation of Alexander Downer.

On 1 March, an Aboriginal Land Fund Bill was passed through the Senate. In mid-March, the Council for Aboriginal Reconciliation suggested a constitutional reform including guaranteeing three seats in Parliament for Indigenous Australians. Following the reform suggestions, Prime Minister Keating proposed a task force to aid improving Aboriginal health in a cabinet meeting.

On 7 June, Prime Minister Paul Keating announced a referendum to be held to amend the Constitution for Australia to become a republic, headed by a parliament-appointed president. On 30 June, the Aboriginal flag and Torres Strait Islander flag were proclaimed as official flags of Australia. On 1 July, Telecom Australia changed its name to Telstra. In June and July 1995, Qantas was privatised. On 23 October, the Australian television company Foxtel officially launched, a joint venture between Telstra and News Corp.

On 3 November, David Harold Eastman is sentenced to life imprisonment after being found guilty by a jury for the murder of Colin Winchester, who was the Assistant Commissioner of the Australian Federal Police. After almost two decades of imprisonment, Eastman was found to have been wrongfully convicted and was exonerated in 2012.

In 1995, the Fremantle Dockers joined the Australian Football League (AFL), becoming the second Western Australia-based team to join the league. Although appearing in the AFL Grand Finals back-to-back, the Geelong Cats were defeated by the Carlton Blues, Geelong earning their record 16th AFL premiership. The Perth Wildcats defeated the North Melbourne Giants 2-1 in the Finals, winning the NBL League Title. The Australian Grand Prix, won by Damon Hill of the Williams-Renault team, was held in Adelaide for the last time due to the race being moved to Melbourne from 1996 onwards.

Events and Issues in WA Politics in 1995 [3]

In 1995, the State Government was headed by Premier Richard Court, the leader of the Liberal Party. On 10 February 1995, the Court Cabinet Ministry was reshuffled, changing the portfolios of some ministers, but keeping the same personnel. Later, on 21 December 1995, another reshuffle of portfolios in the Cabinet ministry occurred.

The most notable portfolio changes were the changes made to Graham Kierath's responsibilities becoming the Minister for Health while passing on Multicultural and Ethnic Affairs to Paul Omodei, and Peter Foss becoming the Minister for the Environment, giving up Health to Graham Kierath.

In 1995, the High Court unanimously dismissed the Western Australian (WA) Government's challenge to the Commonwealth's Native Title Act 1993 finding the Land (Titles and Traditional Usage) Act 1993 (WA) inoperable. Despite warnings from the Prime Minister not to challenge the Mabo decision, the WA Government attempted to reject the Native Title Act, with Premier Court stating that the Act could not be implemented in WA. The dismissal of the challenge, sub-committee meetings and recommendations on Mabo would become frequent topics of discussion in State Cabinet in 1995.

In January 1995, Brian Mahon Easton was jailed for 7 days in Casuarina Prison by the Legislative Council for contempt of the State Parliament. In April 1995, former Minister for Health Keith Wilson revealed that the Easton petition had been discussed in Cabinet before its presentation to Parliament, therefore exposing former Premier Carmen Lawrence, due to her not recalling it being discussed before the presentation to Parliament. In May 1995, Premier Court announced a 5-month long Royal Commission into the Easton Affair with an estimated cost of $1.25 million, sparking widespread debate. In July 1995, the first booze buses were deployed in Western Australia.

Stateships, the WA coastal shipping service to North-Western communities, was shut down due to controversy surrounding the employment of non-union labour. To remedy the North-Western communities, shipping was subsidised by the WA government. The 1995 State Cabinet records reveal the following topics often being considered including: Metropolitan Region Scheme Omnibus amendments, environmental conservation and protection, reforms to firearms legislation, along with the Stateships, native title and the Easton Royal Commission issues.

State Cabinet Meetings – Agenda List 1995

The following list describes the issues and subjects discussed at each meeting of State Cabinet from 9 January until the end of 1995. The date of the meeting is shown, and a list of each of the agenda items considered by State Cabinet, in each file, is described based on the file of Ministry of the Premier and Cabinet Record Agenda 06720. The list uses the original numbering, spelling and terminology employed to describe each of the topics in the 1995 State Cabinet Minutes and Decisions. In 1995, agenda items and minutes were categorised under meeting actions (e.g. Premier - Priority, Deferred items, Legislation (Printing), etc.).

This list shows the date of each meeting and relevant file numbers and is linked to the relevant entry on the SRO's online catalogue. By way of each link, clients are able to request and view the 1995 State Cabinet Records in the Reading Room, 3rd floor of the Alexander Library Building. Alternatively, clients can request digitisation of the relevant file(s) via the online catalogue.
