We're looking for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people of all ages who are interested in making a difference!

"The Aboriginal Traineeship Program really helped me to build my confidence within my workspace. Being a young Torres Strait Islander woman, it's encouraged me to stand proud and be a role model to all our young people."

Muthoni, Dowareb Tribe Woman from Murray Island.

Assistant Community Corrections Officer, Adult Community Corrections

"It's great to be around other people that have a similar cultural background. I can work my way up and be in a position to be a role model for people who join the team in the future."

Zeb, Yawuru Man.

System Support Officer
Court and Tribunal Services

"The Traineeship has helped me develop my confidence, communication and teamwork skills. It has opened so many doors and opportunities for my future with the Department of Justice."

Everett, Noongar Man
Trainee, Reconciliation, Mediation and Aboriginal Justice Program Strategic Reform

"While doing this Traineeship I have gained knowledge and many different skills that I can also apply to everyday life. Being a role model for the young Indigenous community and being able to encourage them to also pursue a career with the Department of Justice makes me feel proud and accomplished."

Monique, Noongar Woman.

Why choose the Department of Justice?

- Work in an organisation that supports the community by providing justice, legal and corrective services across WA.
- Access on-the-job learning opportunities and get exposure to a broad range of activities and tasks.
- Network and build relationships within one of the most diverse public sector organisations.
- Explore long term opportunities with the Department after you complete the 12 month traineeship.

The Department of Justice respectfully acknowledges the Traditional Custodians of the land as being the First Peoples of this country. We embrace the vast Aboriginal cultural diversity throughout Western Australia and recognise their continuing connection to Country, water and sky. We pay our respects to Elders past and present.
