I'd like to add a different but significant threat to the system.

The Texan Frackers have an agenda for the Canning Basin that would literally poison the system. There are applications in process.

They must not be approved by State Government.

Water security is more important to us than being ripped off by yet another mining company from the USA.

Haven't we learnt from ALCOA? When they have a start up well it just goes on till they've wrecked our land.
