

Accredited consultant's charter

The Chief Dangerous Goods Officer (Chief Officer) accredits approved persons to provide certificates in accordance with regulations:

- r. 26(3) and r. 29(4B) of the Dangerous Goods Safety (Storage and Handling of Non-explosives) Regulations 2007,
- r. 157(8) of the Dangerous Goods Safety (Explosives) Regulations 2007, and
- r. 30(5) of the Dangerous Goods Safety (Security Sensitive Ammonium Nitrate) Regulations 2007.

In providing a certificate, the approved person confirms the accredited consultant has read the application and is satisfied that it meets the requirements of the relevant regulations to which the accreditation relates.

The approved person is to apply the policy positions and expectations of the Chief Officer as if the assessment was being conducted by a dangerous goods officer. This means that the licensee will comply with all relevant:

- regulations,
- mandatory codes of practice, and
- approved codes of practice (or an alternative that provides an equivalent or better safety outcome).

The approved person must place achievement of the above requirements ahead of the commercial interests of the licence applicant.

Approved persons must alert their clients of these responsibilities when they are engaged to prepare a licence application and obtain a signed copy of the Acknowledgement of accredited consultant's responsibilities form.

Declaration

I understand and accept the above requirements as a condition of my being accredited as an approved person.
