

George Francis Cleaver

A life & a love

A true story. 1919 to 2002

George and Gwendoline Cleaver

This is an autobiography of my life. It is a true story, nothing omitted that might offend the reader, and no embellishment of my war service to make me appear a hero, to me it was just a job to prevent Germany and Japan ruling the great part of the world. Eighty million died in that endeavour, very few civilians and servicemen that gave their lives received any recognition by the way of medals.

As you will read I was born in England, which apart from my Naval service was my home for 62 years, the last 23 years has been spent in Australia.

I am one of the last veterans, and the few that gave almost six years, sailing the seas as a part of the British Navy in the time of War.

*Every life has its seasons,
Spring when all is new,
Summer with its golden days,
And Autumn with its chill,
Then Winter, silent with the white of snow,
On the hills we climbed together
Then one is gone and all is still*

*When you have shared fiftysix years of your life in a deep and loving relationship with someone,
a little or all of your soul goes with them when they leave this world.*
