At [34] there is very little that can be said in mitigation for the appellant, save that he had undertaken some counselling prior to being sentenced. Even that is somewhat dubious in light of the fact that while on bail for the present offence, he was found in poss of a quantity of cannabis. At [39] a fine would have been an inappropriate sentencing option in this case, and the only appropriate sentencing option was a term of immediate imp As to its length, we regard the 6 mths that was imposed within the range of an appropriate exercise of the sentencing discretion The sentence is not manifestly excessive.

The amount of methyl involved in each of cts 1, 2 and 6 was substantial and at a high level of purity. The drug dealing was a commercial operation carried on for profit to fund both the respondent's drug habit and his lifestyle, in circumstances where the respondent was 'overwhelmed with greed' Apart from the PGthe only mitigating factor was the respondent's

Through inquiries, police identified 4 envelopes containing 71.4g of methyl addressed to a PO box believed to be controlled by Wilson and his partner (co- accused). The methyl was substituted and the envelopes were placed in the PO box for collection. The co-accused collected the envelopes. The co-accused then attended Wilson's home. Police executed a search warrant at the home and found the 4 envelopes (ct 1), 303.7g methyl in a hidden compartment of a coffee table (ct 2), 2.677kg dried cannabis throughout the house (ct 3), firearms and $196,600 cash (section 32 notice). Wilson arrived home during the search and fled in his car to evade arrest. He was arrested at another property a wk later. Police searched this property and found 371.3g methyl (ct 4). Remorse; suffered difficulties at the hands of other prisoners while in custody.	 Ordered ct 2 and ct 4 to be served cum, and ct 1 and ct 3 to be served conc. At [30] Upon the material before the learned sentencing judge, it appeared that the respondent was not at the pinnacle of the drug distribution hierarchy. Clearly, someone else was supplying him with the drugs. However, given the quantities and the purity of the methyl he possessed and the very substantial quantity of cash found at the Cathryn Street address, the respondent must have been close to the source of the drugs. Further, the respondent must have been a trusted associate of whomever was above him in the drug hierarchy. At [36]each sentence, had it stood alone, would have been manifestly inadequate. However, the sentences did not stand alone.
