Possess methylamphetamine/amphetamine with intent to sell or supply

ss 6(1)(a) and 6(1)(c) Misuse of Drugs Act

From 1 January 2014

Transitional Sentencing Provisions: Each of the two tables is divided into thirds based on the three relevant periods of Sentencing Provisions:

- Post-transitional provisions period (after 14/01/09)
- Transitional provisions period (31/08/03 to 14/01/09)
- Pre-transitional provisions period (before 31/08/03)

These periods are separated by a row which shows when the transitional provisions were enacted, and another showing when they were repealed.

The sentencing judge found the appellant would have used at least part of the drugs in question himself; he was selling the drug to fund his own habit, but he had well in excess of what he required for personal use; the tick list indicated he was dealing in large quantities of the drug; the text messages showed he was a very busy dealer, dealing in amounts of more than just points or street level dealing and the fact he was dealing commercially	Appear concerned length of sentence and errors in finding appellant not of good character and commercial dealing agg factor. He was in possession of, approx four times the trafficable quantity. The offending was not fleeting or unplanned, but involved steps to secrete the drugs and establish surveillance of the premises from which business was conducted. The offence was a relatively serious example of its type. At [36] at the point of sentence, no demonstrated steps towards rehabilitation (whether by undertaking treatment programs, education programs or otherwise) had been shown. The prospects of rehabilitation were based on the respondent's aspirational statements as to his future conduct Those aspirational statements do not make this an exceptional case At [37] The respondent committed a serious drug offence. The sentence he received was significantly below the range of sentences customarily imposed for this kind of offending, At [39]-[40] in this case there was little more than a statement of the steps which

Further, if the drugs were distributed into the community, the enterprise stood to gain an extremely large sum of money. Finally, it must not be overlooked that 315 kg of methyl had the potential to bring about enormous harm within the community. At [55] Without question, ct 1 is a very serious offence, particularly having regard to the enormous quantity of methyl it involved. But it must be borne in mind, the gravity of a drug offence is not to be assessed solely or chiefly by the weight of the prohibited drug involved At [57] it must be accepted that the appellant involved himself in a major international drug enterprise. While he may not have initially been aware of its precise nature and scale, he was aware of these things by, or not long after, his arrival at the house The harm that the methyl could have caused

Dillon from NSW. The drugs were sent to a Post Office by a Mr Marshall. Generally, a Mr Wood would then collect and deliver the packages to Dillon, who sold the drugs at street level in 'points, grams and half- weights'.Dillon received packages containing about 112 g of methyl on five uncharged occasions.Ct 2 On one occasion Dillon collected a package of methyl posted by Mr Marshall. As payment Dillon posted him $29,000 in cash. The money was intercepted at a Perth Mail Center. Telephone calls discussing the payment were intercepted at onther parcel containing methyl addressed to Mr Wood. The methyl was replaced with an inert substance and delivered to the Post Office. Mr Wood was arrested after collecting the parcel. Dillon was arrested at his property shortly afterwards. At the time of his arrest $11,560 in cash was located on his property.Ct11 Dillon instructed another to post him a package containing a car door, in which 25g of methyl at 70% purity had been concealed. The package was intercepted by police and the methyl screted inside the door was found.This offending occurred while Dillon was on bail for the charges the subject of cts 4 and 5.	gain and he had obtained substantial quantities of methyl on at least seven occasions; his offending was not isolated but was part of a pattern of offending behaviour. The trial judge found the quantity and purity of the methyl the subject of ct 11 meant it could be further cut and distributed and he stood to make significant amounts of money selling drugs at street level. Limited admissions made; no remorse or insight into his offending.	subsequent offending was not an isolated or out-of- character event the appellant was involved in extensive drug dealing activities [and] had persistently engaged in a commercial drug dealing operation, from a point in time shortly after the susp imp orders had been made.  At [36] the fact that the appellant had engaged in extensive drug dealing activities was sufficient to preclude a finding that it was unjust to require the appellant to serve the susp sentences At [43] The appellant engaged in the persistent commercial distribution of methyl and stood to make a significant profit from the activity. The offending was aggravated by being committed while [he] was subject to susp imp orders. It was also an aggravating feature of ct 11 that the offence was committed while [he] was on bail in respect of the offending charged in cts 4 and 5. Methyl 24.12.20	Employed construction industry on leaving school; lost job during Irish recession; struggled financially; commenced drinking heavily. Moved to Australia 2012- 2013; gained work; reduced alcohol consumption; commenced bodybuilding. Problematic use of performance enhancing drugs; injecting six-seven times per day; cost of habit increasing to thousands of dollars per week; resulting financial stress; began offending as a means of making up the shortfall between his income and expenses. Ceased drug use following arrest.	Intercepted mobile telephone calls revealed Higgins offered to sell quantities of MDMA, anabolic steroids, testosterone and human growth hormones to others. Higgins was also seen meeting a customer and receiving money for the sale of MDMA pills (cts 1-36). Higgins began communicating with an UCO and supplied him with methyl and cocaine on four separate occasions (cts 37-40). Higgins communicated with a co-accused Mr MacDonald, knowing he was able to source very large quantities of methyl. The UCO informed the appellant he was interested in purchasing 1 kg of methyl. Mr MacDonald informed the UCO his supplier could provide the 1 kg of methyl for $192,500. Higgins was present during this discussion and he discussed this proposed purchase with the UCO on further occasions. Higgins acted as the go-between between the UCO and Mr MacDonald. When the deal did not come to fruition Higgins indicated to the UCO he may be able to source the drug elsewhere. Higgins then contacted the co-accused Mr Costa Ramirez. Mr Costa Ramirez and the UCO discussed the purchased of methyl, along with a co-accused Mr Perlin. Some days later Mr Costa Ramirez and Mr Perlin sold 989.3 g of methyl to the UCO in exchange for $180,000. A further co-offender Mr Woodock supplied the methyl and was present during this transaction.	<ul> <li>TES 12 yrs 6 mths imp.</li> <li>EFP.</li> <li>The sentencing judge found the appellant's offending very serious; he dealt with large volumes of various prohibited drugs for commercial gain.</li> <li>The sentencing judge found the appellant's actions were 'deliberate, repeated and persistent'; the quantity, purity and value of the drugs involved significant and some involved substantial quantities; others were involved in the offences and he was motivated by commercial gain.</li> <li>Demonstrated remorse; cooperative; steps taken towards rehabilitation.</li> </ul>	the strength of the state case, the discount of 16% applied to cts 10, 11, 37, 38 and 40, to which the appellant PG only after committal for trial can fairly be said to be generous. At [187]-[188] Mr Woodcock's role in the sale of the methyl was undoubtedly higher in the chain of supply hierarchy than the appellant's. In that respect, Mr Woodcock's offence reflected a high degree of culpability and yet the appellant received a higher sentence Against this, however, is the appellant's offending in relation to ct 40 involved a high degree of persistence over a lengthy period of time. the appellant engaged in discussions with the UCO with a view to a sale of 1 kg of methyl the appellant pursued and facilitated the sale that ultimately was ct 40.  At [191] While Mr Costa Ramirez's offending might fairly be seen as somewhat more serious than the appellant's, that is comfortably accommodated by the 1 yr higher sentence imposed on Mr Costa

			During a telephone conversation with an unidentified female Abbott offered to sell or supply her with half ounce of methyl for $5,500 (ct 5). Police conducted a search of Abbott's premises. In his bedroom eight bags of methyl were located. The value of the drug, if sold as packaged, was about $34,000 (ct 6). Later, buried under a water tank on the property police found a large container containing two sealed packages of methyl. One contained 1.05 kg at 80% purity, the other 560g of methyl with a purity of 78% (ct 7). However, having regard to all relevant circumstances exercising the sentencing discretion afresh, we would not have imposed different sentences for cts 34 to 38. At [66] the appellant's overall criminality was extremely serious. While not directly involved in the sale of the drugs, firearms and ammunition, he voluntarily participated in what was clearly a large- scale commercial enterprise aimed at distributing into the community a large quantity of dangerous illicit drugs and firearms. The appellant's willing complicity in these offences is well illustrated by the modifications to his residence, most notably the wine cellar in which the

Clearly, someone else was supplying him with the drugs. However, given the quantities and the purity of the methyl he possessed and the very substantial quantity of cash found at the Cathryn Street address, the respondent must have been close to the source of the drugs. Further, the respondent must have been a trusted associate of whomever was above him in the drug hierarchy. At [36]each sentence, had it stood alone, would have been manifestly inadequate. However, the sentences did not stand alone. At [38] The very large sum of cash found there showed that the respondent's drug dealing was both substantial and lucrative. MSO, when instructed, added cutting agents to the drugs supplied to him on behalf of B and then repackaged the resulting product. He was paid in cash for his services. Ct 1 Police found a total of 10.54kg of methyl in 18 packages. Each package ranged in size from between 26.6g and 575g and 1kg, of 46%-75% purity. Also found were scales, clip seal bags, a cutting agent, heat sealing equipment and an envelope with handwritten names and quantities on it. The street value was estimated at $4.7-$5.2 million (if sold in 28g lots) and at $10.5 million (if sold in 0.1g lots). Ct 2 Also found were three packages of heroin, two of which were a little under 1kg with 41% purity and the third containing a little less than 500g with 59% purity. The street value was estimated at $1.1 million (if sold in 0.1g lots). Ct 3 Also located were three packages containing 109g of cocaine of 52% purity, 190g of cocaine of 56% purity and 300g of cocaine of 62% purity, respectively. The street value was estimated at $450,000 (if sold in 1g lots) and $214,000 (if sold in 1 oz lots). Ct 4 Police found 3,815 ecstasy tablets, which belonged to B and had been at the factory for Current as at 24 December 2020	combination of beliefs arising from B's implied threat and a desire to make a significant financial gain. At [70] In this case the appellant received a reduction in the sentence that would otherwise have been imposed upon him of 8 yrs and 3 mths in recognition of the assistance which he provided to law enforcement agencies. 42	McCookow The		Ct 1. Dags mathed wing 6.71 a st 940	Sentenced in respect of the common offence to 2 yrs imp. The sentencing judge found the appellant had the capacity to contact and deal with the person who would supply the methyl, thus was more culpable than his co-offender and his offending was purely for commercial gain, unlike the co-offender, a user/dealer. The sentencing judge found the co-offender's sentence was reduced for the common offence 'for totality purposes'. No evidence of remorse; engaged in, or att to engage in, rehabilitative courses while in prison.	that she imposed on [the co- offender] for the common offence for reasons of totality At [13] As the respondent conceded, [the sentencing judge] erred in finding that Petrusa DCJ reduced the sentence that she imposed on [the co-offender] for the common offence for reasons of totality At [21] The appellant had the contacts within the local community to provide him with the 28 g of methyl which was offered to the UCO. The offence was committed over two days, demonstrating a degree of persistence. It was committed for commercial gain. At [23] having regard to the recent decision of Baker v The State of Western Australia, the appellant is to be resentenced on the basis that he intended to sell or supply the methyl in accordance with the terms of the offer, but was denied the opportunity of doing so before his arrest.

C 2: Poss methyl wiss 29.51g at 77% purity. Ct 1 A search of Staiger's residence located methyl in various locations in his bedroom. Ct 2 Some weeks later, whilst on bail in respect of ct 1, Staiger was riding his motorcycle when stopped by police. In a satchel strapped to his leg police located a ball of electrical tape containing 28g, or an ounce, of methyl with a purity of 77%. A further 0.72 g of methyl was found in a glass pipe in the saddlebag of the motorcycle. A later search of his home located a further 1.15 g of methyl.	Ct 1: 8 mths imp (cum). Ct 2: 3 yrs imp (cum). Ct 2: 3 yrs imp (cum). TES 3 yrs 8 mths imp. EFP. The sentencing judge found the methyl was predominately for the appellant's own use; that he was not dealing for profit; however there was a 'small element of commerciality' in that he would occasionally share the drug with others and also sell the drug in order to recoup some of the costs of his own methyl habit. The sentencing judge found the fact the appellant was on bail in respect of ct 1 at the time of committing ct 2	the police not executed the search warrant when they did There was no inconsistency between the jury's verdict and the trial judge's inability 'to say one way or another what [the appellant] would ultimately have done with the methyl'. Dismissed. Appeal concerned length; type of sentence and totality principle and error (failed to consider appellant's major depressive disorder). At [8] The sentencing judge expressly took the appellant's mental health condition into account an cannot be said to have failed to give appropriate weight to that sentencing consideration At [11] The sentencing judge was correct to conclude that a mental health disorder could not be regarded as causative of the offences of poss of methyl wiss

The trial judge found the appellant a low-level drug dealer involved in 'street dealing' and that he sold drugs to finance his drug addiction. The trial judge found the offending too serious to enable suspension.	At [34] The appellant's offending in relation to ct 1 was serious. It involved the possession, wiss, of 12.81 g of methyl with a high degree of purity. The appellant was a low-level drug dealer as well as a user. Dealers in a prohibited drug who are addicted to the drug are not treated more leniently merely because the motive for their dealing is the need for money to finance the addiction or to reduce drug debts

Riche Director of Public Prosect	reward' from the sale of the drugs in question, the appellant's medical conditions and his efforts to overcome his drug addiction were appropriately reflected in the sentence imposed. At [40] The sentence imposed on the appellant for ct 1 is broadly consistent with the sentencing pattern for offences of the kind he committed, having regard to the comparable and distinguishing features between the prior cases and the appellant's case. At [49] The offences charged in cts 1 and 2 were separate and distinct. A custodial term of 3 yrs was necessary in order properly

He was also dealing in cannabis at the same time as he was dealing in methyl cannabis is not a harmless drug. It has deleterious effects upon those who use it, and it is often associated with, or is a gateway to, more harmful drugs. At [34] there is very little that can be said in mitigation for the appellant, save that he had undertaken some counselling prior to being sentenced. Even that is somewhat dubious in light of the fact that while on bail for the present offence, he was found in poss of a quantity of cannabis. At [39] a fine would have been an inappropriate sentencing option in this case, and the only appropriate sentencing option was a term of immediate imp As to its length, we regard the 6 mths that was imposed within the range of an appropriate exercise of the sentencing discretion The sentence is not manifestly excessive.
Meinyi 24.12.20		Curreni as ai 24 December 2020

		E the	onector of Public	Roscutt	At [41] Ct 1 was a serious offence of its type the appellant possessed a reasonably substantial quantity of methyl with a high purity. The high purity is of importance because, it gave rise to the potential for the methyl to be 'broken down', thus broadening the potential harm to the community. It is also the case that the appellant was close to the source of the methyl. The appellant possessed the drug with the intention of distributing it into the community for commercial gain. At [45] The cumulation of the 6-mth sentence on ct 2 with the sentence on ct 1 was appropriate to reflect that the appellant was dealing with two different illicit drugs. Additional punishment was appropriate in order to properly reflect the greater criminality involved in the appellant's dealing in cannabis
