Unique Western Australia

Western Australia's food and beverage industry holds a range of competitive strengths.

Diverse environments: A vast geographic span of 2,400 km (1,490 miles) from the tropical north to the southern coastline provides diverse soils and climates suited to a great variety of agricultural enterprises.

Quality and safety: An isolated location and world-class biosecurity practices, provide one of the most pest and disease-free agricultural production areas in the world. We have a reputation for producing premium and safe food and beverages.

Location: Short travel times to Asia mean perishable products can arrive in optimal condition the day after leaving our shores. Being counter seasonal to the Northern Hemisphere allows buyers to source produce year round.

Time zone: A globally connected location, sharing the same time zone with 60% of the world's population, provides ease when doing business together.

Innovation: Access to the latest advancements through vibrant national and international science and innovation partnerships, as well as modern infrastructure and sophisticated supply chains, provides speed and efficiency in delivery worldwide.

Premium quality: Providing products of known provenance and exceptional quality, with brands recognised throughout the world, we take pride in achieving excellence in both production and business practices.

From across the regions

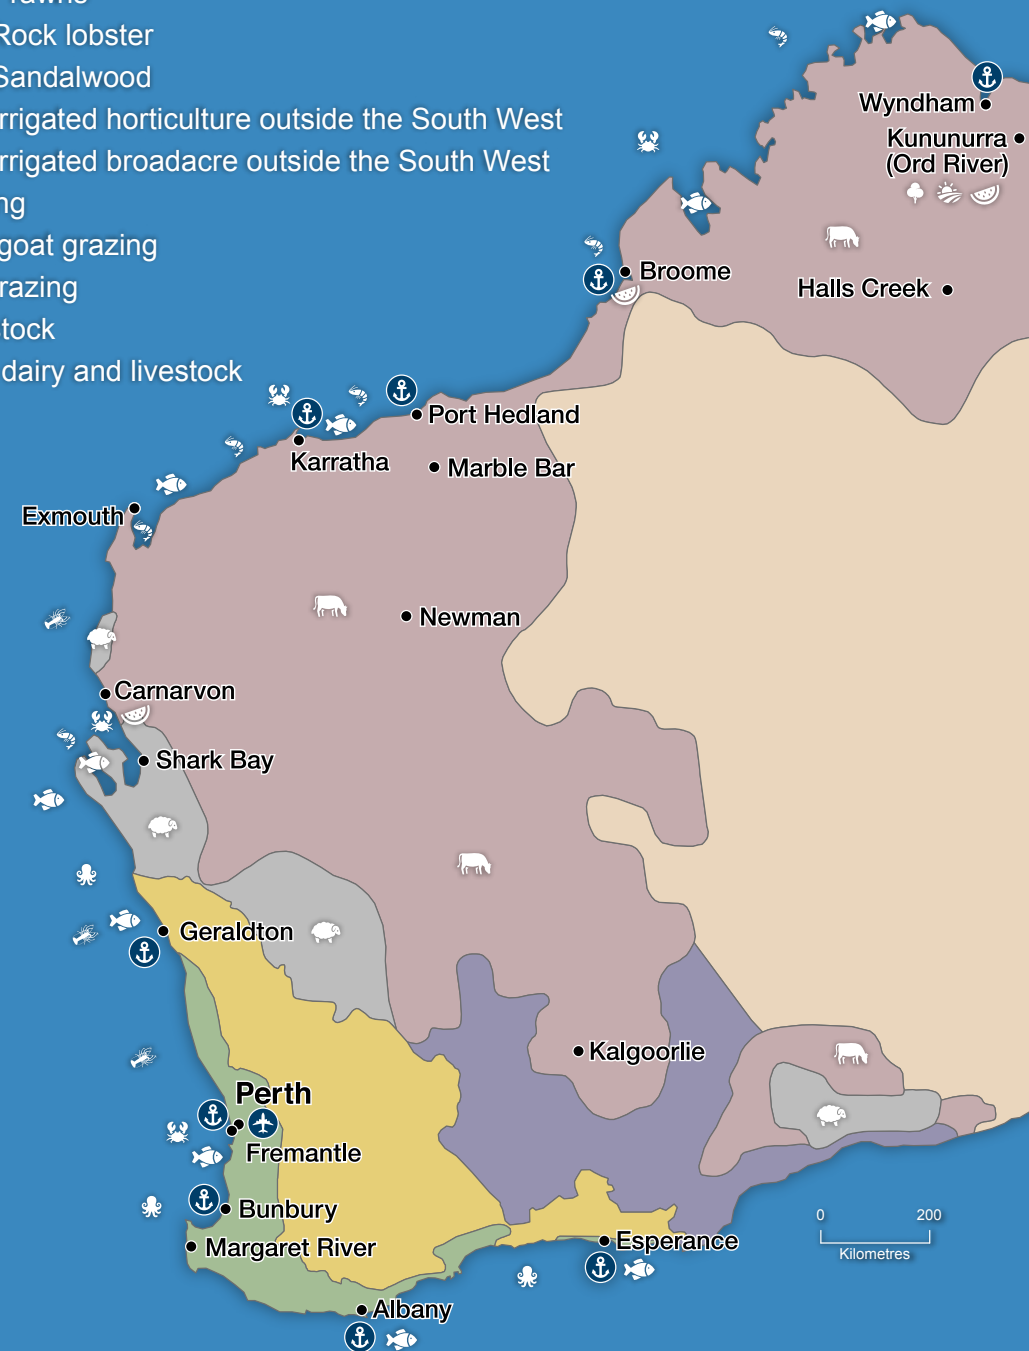

Whether it's tropical fruit from the Ord River in the north, grain from the wheatbelt, horticulture, dairy and meat from the South West or the bounty of seafood from our 12,500 km coastline, Western Australia's diverse environment enables access to fresh and unique produce year round.

Home to some 1,400 food manufacturers, our produce is expertly crafted to deliver the best Western Australia has to offer. Found locally in our fresh markets and supermarkets, top-class restaurants, wineries and beachside cafes from Margaret River to Broome and beyond, these are flavours worth sharing with the rest of the world.

We invite you to get to know more about Western Australia, by exploring the different regions from north, south, east and west. It's a big place, with plenty of variety and interesting stories to be discovered.

As we're 'down under' in the Southern Hemisphere, many of our growing seasons are counter seasonal to the north, meaning you can source your produce all year round.

Shipping times and time zones from Perth

Western Australia is the closest, most accessible western region to Asia; it's in the same, or adjacent, time zone as Beijing, Manila, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Singapore and Kuala Lumpur.

World-recognised food and beverages

Western Australian food and beverages are enjoyed around the world, from premium produce used in high-end restaurants, ingredients for food manufacturing or packaged products ready for purchase from supermarket shelves.

Our wheat is excellent for traditional Japanese udon noodles, which have strict quality requirements to achieve the right 'mochi mochi' mouthfeel.

Wagyu beef, farmed in our pristine South West region, is in high demand throughout Asia, Europe and America, exported alongside beef, lamb, mutton, goat, pork and poultry.

Malting barley is a key input for Korea's commercial beer breweries and wheat is used to make much of the country's bread, udon and soba noodles.

Our sought after seafood can arrive in market within hours of being caught, with Western Australian rock lobsters, abalone and marron being served in restaurants around the world.

Counter seasonal to the Northern Hemisphere, the gourmet truffles we grow are exported to markets including the United States, France, Hong Kong, United Kingdom, Singapore and Germany.

We've developed horticulture products with unique characteristics, such as Bravo™ apples which have a striking burgundy colour, don't brown as quickly as other apples and can contribute to heart health.

Our delicious Jarrah honey is known in Asia for its health benefits, while frames of honeycomb are sent to five star hotels in the Middle East and Asia to be displayed in the dining buffets.

Oak Valley Truffles is the largest truffle producer in Australia and has 73 hectares or 36,500 winter truffle inoculated trees. Oak Valley winter black truffles are harvested in the months of June, July and August. WA Corn Growers

Neerabup, Western Australia, 6031
+61 8 9405 4162
jim@trandosfarms.com.au
www.westaustriancorngrowers.com.au

Our grandfather migrated here on his own from Greece and started the family business in 1939, and we have continued on the family business through four generations so far.

We grew beans and corn along with other crops, but when getting manual labour to harvest became an issue during the WA mining boom, we needed to adapt and find a gap in the market for mechanically-harvested crops. Once we established a market we then made the decision to follow the sun to Broome to grow beans and corn up there through the winter so that now we have a 12-month supply.

Products

Sweet corn and green beans. We generally only export sweet corn due to refrigeration challenges for air freight and shelf life challenges for sea freight.

Export countries

Dubai, Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan, Malaysia and New Zealand.

Australian distribution
