

State Design Review Panel – Biographies

| | |
|--------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Alf Seeling | After graduating from the Western Australian Institute of Technology, Alf spent a decade working in Austria, the United Kingdom, and Japan with Ernst Giselsbrecht, Eilfred Huth, and then Lord Norman Foster before returning to Australia in 1996. Alf joined Woods Bagot in 2000 and was based in the United Arab Emirates where he led the design of an extensive list of significant works. More recently, Alf has been working with With Architecture Studio and Architectus. |
| Senior Associate | |
| Architectus | |

As a member of the Advisory Group for the Council on Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat, Alf contributed to the deliberations on the One World Trade Centre project in New York being accepted as the tallest building in North America.

According to Alf, significant buildings generally have a wide and lasting impact on our overall built environment. Healthy, collaborative design reviews can contribute to ensuring they are the best they can be.
