Dr Samantha Hall Samantha Hall helps organisations create spaces that work for people.

Director/ Founder Her academic research focused on what creates a healthy and sustainable building. She also explored how to create feedback loops in the often linear building life cycle, capturing lessons learned and using these to inform project design.

Campus Intuition and Spaces Alive

She now works with education campuses globally, gathering feedback from thousands of students to help property teams understand their buildings, and where to focus activity and spending. This has given her a unique insight into what works well to create comfortable and functional spaces.

Her work has been recognised with a Western Australian 40 under 40 award, AMP Change Maker and Curtin Innovation Award. Samantha also sits on the Curtin University Council.
