

State Design Review Panel – Biographies

Tim Dawkins	Urbis director and current Chair of the Property Council's Planning Committee, Tim is a town planner with experience across public and private sectors in Western Australia, Queensland, and New South Wales.
Director, Town Planning
Urbis	Tim holds a Bachelor's in Economics and Master's in Urban and Regional Planning. He joined Urbis in 2008 where he helped establish the Perth office into one of Western Australia's largest planning operations. Throughout his career, Tim has worked on diverse projects in commercial, education, industrial health, aged care, and retail spheres, and on urban regeneration projects in metropolitan Perth, particularly focusing on inner areas and CBD. He led the State Government's 2010 review of R-Codes, contributed to the development of the State Government's Apartment Guide policy, and led the development and preparation of the Precinct Design policy. Tim's extensive design review experience from the applicant's side, will offer understanding of a proponent's core drivers and requirements, and where compromise exists, and other elements may be less flexible.
