The trial judge found the offending very serious and not at the lowest or lower end of the scale; the quantity of the CEM was significant; some of the material was classified in the worst category, including material that displayed a significant level of perversion or debauchery; the appellant committed the offending over a lengthy period, being a three-yr-period of consistent interaction with CEM files: the material was downloaded on numerous occasions and he copied it across other devices. indicative of a person with a real and significant interest in CEM: the children involved were vulnerable and he preved on that vulnerability in order to take possession of the CEM; the offending ended only when the CEM was seized, it was not a case access, and the opportunity to touch the children without arousing suspicion, to satisfy his own perverted sexual desires. Whilst no physical or verbal coercion was involved, none was needed. On three occasions the touching advanced to actual sex pen. The victims were vulnerable having regard to their age. S was particularly vulnerable due to her autism.

At [67] Having regard to the max penalties for the offences, the seriousness of the offending conduct (including the number of offences and the number of victims), the personal circumstances of the appellant and the sentences imposed in broadly comparable cases, it is not reasonably arguable that the TES ... imposed on IND 1475 was plainly unreasonable or unjust.

At [69] In respect of the CEM offences committed by the appellant the seriousness is reflected in the very large number of images and videos, the period of time over which the material was collected and the nature of that material. It included numerous images and videos in the most serious categories. Whilst there was no evidence that [he] had engaged in this activity for him to stop but he continued. Guagliardo then put his hands in her pants and started rubbing her vaginal area (ct 8). S, aged 7 yrs, has autism. She suffered from stomach pains. In consultation with her mother Guagliardo would sometimes massage her stomach to relieve her pain. On one occasion he was massaging her he put his fingers inside her vagina, causing her pain (ct 10). IND 2189 of him voluntarily desisting. The offences involved the penetration of the victim's vagina with his penis. He also penetrated her mouth and vagina with his penis and took photographs of the offending.

On other occasions Newton took photographs standing naked over the victim, while her legs were in the air and his penis was pointed toward her vagina and while the victim was kneeling in front of his erect penis.

On the execution of a SW at Newton's address, a computer and hard drive were located, which later revealed 11,009 images or videos of CEM material.

Six comic books depicting children engaged in sexual poses or activities were also found.

Also located was Newton's tablet device, for which he refused to provide the passcode.

The sentencing judge found the offending serious; the victim was very young; the significant age disparity between her and the appellant; the gross breach of trust; the persistence of the offending and the fact the appellant recorded much of it.

The sentencing judge found the CEM material in the appellant's poss included material in the more serious category of CEM.

Accepting of responsibility; evidence of remorse; average risk of reoffending.

him. The offending, as a whole, called for a very substantial term of imp and we are not satisfied that the learned sentencing judge erred in imposing the sentence that she did.

At [63] ... The sentence was certainly severe. It nevertheless fits broadly within the range of sentences imposed for offending of this type, and the present case had a number of particular features not present in many of the authorities.

At [64] ... the offending itself was very serious. In particular it involved four distinct categories of offending, the presence of which called for accumulation of terms of imp, thus increasing the TES. The presence of these additional categories serves to distinguish the present case from many of the cases on which the appellant relied.

At [65] ... the sexual offending against the victim was itself very serious, given the victim's young age, the significant age disparity between the appellant and the victim, the gross breach of trust for his own sexual gratification and the significant period over which and numerous (18) occasions on which the offending occurred. The seriously damaging effects on the victim the appellant persistently and callously treated the victim as a sexual plaything for his sexual gratification. At [66] the offending included recording and retaining photographs of his offending on the victim. That conduct contributed substantially to [his] overall criminality. [He] recorded his abuse of the victim for his own sexual gratification, in essence to extend and prolong his gratification from abusing the victim into the future. In this way, the victim could be said to have been re-victimised each time [he] viewed, and used, those images for his sexual gratification. At [67] the very significant quantity of CEM in the appellant's poss called for a further increase in the TES. At [68] As this Court has recognised, a cum sentence will often be appropriate for failure to comply with a data access order.

Parents deceased; supportive sister.

Homosexual; came out 3 yrs prior to sentencing; difficulties dealing with his sexuality.

Completed yr 10 high school.

Sound work history; employed at time of offending.

History of amphetamine and methyl abuse.

The offending involved two separate victims, J and T, both 14-yr old boys, and three separate incidents.

The first victim, J, met Oreo on an online dating application. On the site J indicated he was about 20 yrs old. When Oreo questioned J as to his age he told Oreo he was 16 yrs old.

Oreo met J at a public toilet. J was wearing his school uniform. Inside a toilet stall they kissed and engaged in a number of sexual acts (cts 1-6).

Oreo and J continued to communicate with each other about meeting for sex.

A few days later they again arranged to meet. Oreo picked J up in his car before he went to school. J was again wearing his school uniform. After parking the car Oreo kissed J on the mouth, touched his penis and performed oral sex on him, before dropping J near his school (cts 7-9).

After this incident J's mother found text messages on her son's phone about meeting men for sex and contacted the police. When interviewed J disclosed the offending and identified Oreo from a digiboard.

The sentencing judge found there was a significant likelihood the appellant was aware J was under the age of 16 yrs and that he was aware T was 14-yrs old.

The sentencing judge found the offending aggravated by the fact it involved two different 14-yr-old males; the offending and surrounding text messages indicated a sexual interest in underage males and his willingness to act on that interest: it was premediated; involved unprotected pen sexual activity; there was a significant age disparity; he sent messages and intended to distribute the image of T's penis in an att to enlist other adult males to engage in in that J was U18 yrs and any belief J was at least 16 yrs not mitigating).

Sent back to District Court for resentencing.

At [48] ... it was an admitted fact that J had told the appellant he was 16 yrs old. While we accept that the appellant may have faced some challenges in proving an honest belief, we cannot conclude that he had no reasonable prospect of doing so. The fact that counsel's misapprehension effectively deprived the appellant of the opportunity to att to prove that fact constitutes a miscarriage of justice in these circumstances.

At [52] ... we are satisfied that the misunderstanding of defence counsel gave rise to a miscarriage of justice in all the circumstances of this case.

The trial judge found the offending against E, C and B demonstrated a high degree of perversion or deviance on the appellant's part; E, C and B were very young and could not have been more vulnerable: the offending was brazen: there was 'a considerable age difference' between the appellant and each of the victims; he was in a position of trust and authority and the offending involved a significant abuse of trust; he repeatedly used the opportunity to look after the children to sexually abuse them; the offending was repetitious and, in the case of E and C, occurred on many occasions over a period of yrs; the offending against B was limited to four occasions, in the space of a matter of wks.

No expressions of remorse and no effort made towards rehabilitation.

relationships that he had with their mothers to sexually abuse the victims. The offending against E and C occurred over about a yr in the case of E and over a period of yrs in the case of C. While the offending in relation to B occurred over a much shorter period and was less physically invasive, having regard to B's age and all the circumstances of the offending, it involved a high degree of criminality.

At [75] Not only did the appellant commit the offences the subject of cts 1, 2 and 3, he recorded what he had done ... The only reasonable inference that can be drawn from the appellant's recording of the material is that he wished to watch it in the future for his sexual gratification. In addition, the appellant committed the offence against M ... and was found in poss of a very substantial amount of CEM ... Some accumulation was required having regard to the number of victims and offences committed by the appellant, to the seriousness of the offences and to her Honour's reduction of the individual sentences for cts 1, 2, 3, 8 and 9 in applying the totality principle. ...
