

WA award summary

Fast Food Outlets Award – This award only applies to specific named businesses (as listed on page 2 at Step 2) when the relevant employer is operating in the state system. Businesses covered include Subway, Red Rooster, KFC, Chicken Treat and others.

1 July 2025

About this award summary

This document is a summary of the state Fast Food Outlets Award. WA awards are legal documents that outline the pay rates, allowances, working hours, and leave entitlements for employees in a particular industry or type of work.

Complying with the provisions of a WA award is compulsory and all employers who are covered by this WA award must provide employees with the pay rates and employment entitlements in the WA award, as outlined in this award summary and in the full award as a minimum. Potential penalties for employers who do not meet WA award requirements are detailed on page 2.

This WA award summary is a summary only and does not include all obligations required by the award. It is important to also refer to the full Fast Food Outlets Award that is available on the Western Australian Industrial Relations Commission website www.wairc.wa.gov.au. Provisions of other employment legislation also apply to employees and have been included in this WA award summary where appropriate. You should refer to the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993, the Long Service Leave Act 1958, and the Industrial Relations Act 1979 for full details.

Industrial inspectors at the Department of Local Government, Industry Regulation and Safety have powers under the Industrial Relations Act 1979 to investigate employee complaints about underpayments of pay rates and leave entitlements under this WA award and state employment laws. Industrial inspectors also undertake regular proactive compliance audits in particular industries to determine if employers are paying correct wages and keeping correct employment records.

The penalty for not complying with a provision of a WA award or not complying with a requirement relating to employment records is up to $18,000 for individuals and $93,000 for bodies corporate. Higher penalties apply for serious contraventions of up to $180,000 for individuals and $930,000 for bodies corporate. An industrial inspector is also able to give a person a civil infringement notice, similar to an 'on-the-spot fine', for not complying with employment record-related requirements. Record keeping requirements are outlined in the Employment records section.

Employees who believe that they have been underpaid wages or leave entitlements under state employment laws, can follow the Steps to making an underpayment complaint.

Registered trainees

- Registered trainees employees who are undertaking a traineeship registered with the Apprenticeship Office at the Department of Training and Workforce Development. Traineeships can be undertaken on a full time, part time or school-based basis.
- Adult or junior employees undertaking a registered traineeship would not be covered by the Fast Food Outlets Award as there is no job classification for registered trainees under this award, and therefore registered trainees in this industry are award free.
- View the pay rates in the Award free employees minimum pay rates and entitlements summary for award free full time, part time and school based registered trainees.
- An employer is required to pay a registered trainee for time spent at TAFE (or other off the job training) as normal working hours. An employer is not required to pay TAFE fees on behalf of the registered trainee.
- Registered trainees in this industry are entitled to annual leave, personal leave and other leave and employment entitlements that apply to award free employees while undertaking a traineeship.

Employment of children

- Under the Children and Community Services Act 2004, the minimum age for employment in a fast food or takeaway food business is 13 years of age, except if the child is working as part of a school program or in a family business.
- A child who is 13 or 14 years old may work in a fast food or takeaway food outlet between 6am and 10pm (excepting school hours) if the employer has obtained written permission from their parent or guardian.
- A person must not employ a child of compulsory school age during the hours when the child is required to attend school or otherwise participate in an educational program of a school.
- There are significant penalties for breaching the employment of children laws:
 - employing a child without the permission of a parent – a fine of up to $24,000 or $120,000 for a corporation
 - employing a child before 6am or after 10pm – a fine of up to $24,000 or $120,000 for a corporation.

Allowances

Meal Money

An employee who is required to work overtime for more than 2 hours on any day, without being notified on the previous day or earlier, will either be supplied with a meal by the employer or must be paid $12.75.

Uniforms and Laundering

Where uniforms are required by the employer to be worn, they shall be supplied, laundered and/or dry cleaned by the employer and remain the property of the employer. If the employer does not launder and/or dry clean the uniform, the employee must be paid:

Casual employees	$1.75 per week
Part time employees	$2.15 per week
Full time employees	$2.80 per week

An employee employed as full time Cook must be paid $3.35 per week for laundry and/or dry cleaning.

Protective clothing

Employees who are required to wash dishes, clean toilets or otherwise handle detergents, acids, soaps or any injurious substances must be supplied by the employer with rubber gloves or be paid $1.75 per week.

Leading hands allowance

A leading hand must be paid the following allowance:

If in charge of less than 6 employees	$9.15 per week
If in charge of 6 to 10 employees	$12.45 per week
If in charge of 11 to 20 employees	$14.70 per week
If in charge of 20 or more employees	$23.70 per week

Location allowance

- Employees employed in certain regional towns must be paid the weekly location allowance relevant to that town. Rates listed below are for adult employees working full time. Casual employees, part time employees, apprentices and trainees must be paid proportionate location allowance based on the proportion which their weekly wage is to the adult rate under the WA award.
- If an employee has a dependant (a spouse or partner, or a child if they do not have a spouse or partner) who does not get a location allowance the employee must receive double the relevant location allowance.

- If an employee has a 'partial dependant' (a dependant who gets a district or location allowance which is less than the location allowance the employee gets) the employee must be paid their relevant location allowance rate plus the difference between the employee's location allowance and what the partial dependant is receiving in district or location allowance.
- If an employee receives free meals and accommodation, or is paid an allowance for meals and accommodation, the employee is only entitled to receive 66.67% of the amount for the relevant town.

Location allowance rates effective from the first pay period on or after 1 July 2025

Deductions

- An employer may only make a deduction from an employee's pay if:
 - the employer is required by a court or a state or federal law to make the deduction (e.g. tax that must be withheld from the employee's pay);
 - the employee has authorised the deduction in writing (as part of a written employment contract or otherwise) and the deduction is paid on their behalf of the employee; or
 - the employer is authorised by the WA award to make the deduction, the deduction is paid on behalf of the employee.
- Deductions or requirements to pay an amount of money to the employer or another person in relation to an employee under the age of 18 are not permitted unless the deduction or payment is agreed to in writing by the employee's parent or guardian.
- A term of a WA award or employment contract providing for a deduction from an employee's pay will be of no effect if it is for the benefit of the employer or a party related to the employer and is unreasonable in the circumstances.
- An employer cannot directly or indirectly compel an employee to accept goods, accommodation or other services instead of money as part of the employee's pay. Visit Deductions and pay protections for more information.

Meal breaks

- An employee must receive an unpaid meal break of between 30 and 60 minutes after not more than 5 hours of work.
- If it is not possible for the employer to grant a meal break on any day, the meal break must be treated as time worked and the employee must be paid a 50% loading on the employee's ordinary hourly rate, until the employee is released for a meal.

Ordinary working hours

- The employer must create a roster showing the working hours of each employee for at least one week in advance of the date of the roster.
- There may be one other break of at least 2 hours during each shift - such a break may include a meal break.

Full time employees

Ordinary hours of work are:

- 40 hours per week;
- worked over a maximum of 5 days per week;
- no more than 9 hours per day;
- a maximum spread of shift of 11 hours; and
- each employee is entitled to 2 clear days off duty per week.

Part time employees

Ordinary hours of work are:

- no more than 30 hours and no less than 9 hours per week;
- worked over a maximum of 5 days per week;
- no less than 3 consecutive hours per shift;
- no more than 8 hours per day*;
- a maximum spread of shift of 11 hours; and
- each employee is entitled to 2 clear days off duty per week.

Casual employees

Ordinary hours of work are:

- 40 hours per week;
- no less than 2 consecutive hours per shift;
- worked over a maximum of 5 days per week;
- no more than 9 hours per day;
- a maximum spread of shift of 11 hours; and
- each employee is entitled to 2 clear days off duty per week.

Overtime

Overtime is payable for all time worked by an employee (including a casual employee) in excess of or outside of the ordinary hours of work, or outside the employee's ordinary rostered hours.

When overtime is worked	Overtime rates
Monday to Friday and Saturday prior to 12pm*	Time and a half for the first 2 hours and double time after that.
After 12pm Saturday and all day Sunday*	Double time.
On a rostered day off (non-working day) for full time and part time employees	Double time (minimum payment of 3 hours)

*Where a part time employee is requested to work overtime beyond their regular finishing time in order to meet unforeseen operational and/or staffing requirements, the first hour of overtime is paid for at ordinary rates, the second hour of overtime is paid for at the rate of time and a half, and any further hours of overtime are paid at double time.

Penalty rates

All hours worked on a public holiday are paid at the rate of double time with a minimum payment for 4 hours' work.

Flexible working arrangement requests

- Written requests for a flexible work arrangement can be made by employees with at least 12 months' service. Requests can only be made in relation to specific circumstances, which include pregnancy, caring responsibilities, disability, and family and domestic violence. The employer must consider the request and provide a written response within 21 days.
- An employer can refuse the request for specified reasons, including reasonable business grounds.
- Any flexible work arrangement agreed between the employer and employee must be consistent with the working hours and employment arrangements in this WA award.
- Visit Flexible work requests for more information.

Public holidays

Under this award:

- Any day that is a public holiday under the Public and Bank Holidays Act is a public holiday for the purposes of the award. When certain public holidays fall on a Saturday or Sunday both that day, and the next following Monday (or in the case of Boxing Day the next following Tuesday) are also public holidays, and where that occurs both days are public holidays for the purposes of the award.
- The Easter Sunday public holiday is on the actual day and it is not substituted to another day.

Visit Public Holidays in Western Australia to view public holiday dates.

Minimum entitlement to be absent on a public holiday

- All employees have a minimum entitlement to be absent from work on a day that is a public holiday.
- An employer is able to request an employee to work on a public holiday if the request is reasonable, but an employee is entitled to refuse a request to work on a public holiday if the request is not reasonable or refusal is reasonable.
- There are a range of specific factors that need to be taken into account when determining whether a request or a refusal of a request is reasonable. These are outlined on Public holiday pay and arrangements.

Payment for public holidays

- If a full time or part time employee is absent from work on a public holiday (and their absence is consistent with the minimum entitlements described above) they are entitled to be paid:
 - as if they were required to work their ordinary hours on the public holiday; and
 - at the rate they would have received as payment for those hours under this WA award.
- If a casual employee does not work on a public holiday they are not entitled to payment.
- Employees who would not ordinarily work on the public holiday (such as part time employees who do not work on that day of the week) and employees on unpaid leave on the public holiday are not entitled to payment.
- If a full time, part time or casual employee works on a public holiday they must be paid at the rate of double time with a minimum payment for 4 hours' work.
- Where a full time employee's rostered day off coincides with a public holiday, the employee must receive one day's additional pay at ordinary rates.

Flexible working arrangement requests

- Written requests for a flexible work arrangement can be made by employees with at least 12 months' service. Requests can only be made in relation to specific circumstances, which include pregnancy, caring responsibilities, disability, and family and domestic violence. The employer must consider the request and provide a written response within 21 days.
- An employer can refuse the request for specified reasons, including reasonable business grounds.
- Any flexible work arrangement agreed between the employer and employee must be consistent with the working hours and employment arrangements in this WA award.
- Visit Flexible work requests for more information.

Leave entitlements

Quick reference guide

Leave entitlement	Full time	Part time	Casual

Paid personal leave	✓	✓	✗
Unpaid personal leave for caring purposes	✓	✓	✓
Bereavement leave	✓	✓	✓
Unpaid parental leave	✓	✓	✓
Long service leave	✓	✓	✓
Family and domestic violence leave	✓	✓	✓

This WA award summary covers the basic leave entitlements for employees covered by the Food Outlets Award but does not include all details on leave obligations and entitlements. Full details of conditions are contained in the Food Outlets Award on the WA Industrial Relations Commission website www.wairc.wa.gov.au, the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993 and the Long Service Leave Act 1958.

Annual leave

- Full time employees are entitled to a minimum of 4 weeks of paid annual leave for each year of completed service. Part time employees are entitled to a minimum of annual leave of 4 weeks per year paid on a pro rata basis according to the number of hours they are required ordinarily to work in a 4 week period. Casual employees are not entitled to annual leave.
- If a public holiday falls within an employee's period of annual leave, an extra day must be added to that period of annual leave for each such public holiday.
- Annual leave accrues on a weekly basis:
 - A full time employee accrues 3.077 hours of annual leave for each completed week of work.
 - A part time employee accrues the relevant proportion of 3.077 hours annual leave for each completed week of work.
- Annual leave is a minimum entitlement in the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993 and the Fast Food Outlets Award sets out other requirements regarding annual leave and annual leave loading.
- During annual leave an employee must be paid annual leave loading of 17.5% of ordinary pay.
- For annual leave entitlements when employment ends see the Resignation, termination and redundancy section.
- Visit Annual leave for more information.

Bereavement leave

- All employees, including casual employees, are entitled to 2 days paid bereavement leave on the death of a member of the employee's family or household. The 2 days need not be consecutive.
- Bereavement leave is a minimum entitlement from the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993.
- Visit Bereavement leave for more information.

Parental leave

Employees, including eligible casual employees, are entitled to the unpaid parental leave entitlements in the National Employment Standards of the Fair Work Act 2009. Visit Parental leave for more details.

Personal leave

- Personal leave entitles a full time or part time employee to paid time off work due to either illness or injury to themselves, or because they have to care for a member of their family or household who requires care or support because they are sick, injured or affected by an unexpected emergency.
- Full time and part time employees are entitled to paid personal leave equal to the number of hours they would ordinarily work in a 2 week period, up to 80 hours per year. Personal leave is a cumulative entitlement, and any leave not taken in one year can be carried over to the next year.
- Personal leave accrues on a weekly basis:
 - A full time employee accrues 1.538 hours of personal leave for each completed week of work.
 - A part time employee accrues the relevant proportion of 1.538 hours personal leave for each completed week of work.
- An employee, including a casual employee, is entitled to up to 2 days of unpaid personal leave per occasion when a member of the employee's family or household requires care or support because of a personal illness or injury or unexpected emergency affecting the member. A full time or part time employee cannot take unpaid personal leave for caring purposes if they have paid personal leave available.
- Casual employees are not entitled to paid personal leave.
- Personal leave is a minimum entitlement from the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993.
- Unused personal leave entitlements are not paid out on termination.
- Visit Personal leave for definitions of 'member of the family or household' or for more information.

Family and domestic violence leave

- All employees are entitled to 10 days' paid family and domestic violence leave under the national Fair Work Act 2009.
- In addition, all state system employees are entitled to 5 days' unpaid family and domestic violence leave under the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993.
- Family and domestic violence leave is available in full at the start of each 12 month period of an employee's employment and does not accumulate from year to year. The leave is available in full to part time and casual employees (i.e. it is not pro rata).
- Visit Family and domestic violence leave for more information.

Long service leave

- Long service leave is a paid leave entitlement for full time, part time and casual employees. Under the Long Service Leave Act 1958 (LSL Act), an employee may be eligible for long service leave:
 - after 10 years of continuous employment with the same employer, and for every 5 years of continuous employment after the initial 10 years; and
 - on a pro rata basis when their employment ends after 7 years of continuous employment but before 10 years.
- The Long service leave pages of the Wageline website contain information on who is covered by the LSL Act, the entitlement to long service leave, how long service leave can be taken and frequently asked questions.
- To be entitled to long service leave an employee's employment with their employer must be continuous. There are some paid and unpaid absences or interruptions to an employee's employment that:
 - do not break an employee's continuous employment; and
 - count towards the employee's period of employment for the purposes of accruing long service leave.
- Some other types of absences do not break an employee's continuous employment, but do not count towards an employee's period of employment for the purposes of accruing long service leave. Visit What is continuous employment for details.
- An employee's employment may in some circumstances also be continuous despite a change in the ownership of a business and the associated change of employer. This applies regardless of anything written in a sale of business contract. Visit When a business changes ownership for details.
- The WA long service leave calculator can provide an estimate of the number of weeks of long service leave an employee is entitled to when employment ends as a result of resignation, dismissal, death or redundancy.

Resignation, termination and redundancy

An employee is entitled to be paid out annual leave when employment ends.

Unused annual leave for any completed year of employment (including annual leave loading) gets paid out when employment ends due to resignation, dismissal or redundancy.

Pro rata annual leave for part of a year of employment is paid out when employment ends due to resignation, redundancy or dismissal (except for dismissal for serious misconduct). Annual leave loading is not paid on pro rata annual leave.

Resignation by the employee

Full time and part time employees are required to provide at least one day's notice of resignation.

A casual employee can resign by providing one hour's notice to the employer.

Termination

An employer is required to give a casual employee one hour's notice of termination.

Except in cases of serious misconduct, an employer is required to give full time and part time employees the following period of notice of termination (or payment in lieu).

Period of continuous service	Notice period
Not more than 1 year	1 week
More than 1 year but not more than 3 years*	2 weeks
More than 3 years but not more than 5 years*	3 weeks
More than 5 years*	4 weeks

*Employees over 45 years of age with 2 or more years of continuous service must receive an additional week's notice.

Dismissal requirements

Under state laws, employees cannot be dismissed if to do so would be harsh, unfair or oppressive. There must be a valid and fair reason for dismissal, such as:

- consistent unsatisfactory work performance (which has been raised with the employee and the employee given further training and an opportunity to improve their work performance);
- inappropriate behaviour or actions; or
- serious misconduct

Dismissal and unfair dismissal outlines obligations and requirements when an employee is terminated.

Redundancy

An employee is redundant when their employer has made a definite decision that they no longer wish the job the employee has been doing to be done by anyone.

When an employee has been made redundant they are entitled to receive:

- the appropriate notice period of pay in lieu of notice, as in the Termination section above;
- paid leave for job interviews;
- any unpaid wages;
- any unused accrued and pro rata annual leave;
- any unused accrued long service leave;
- pro rata long service leave (if applicable); and
- severance pay (if applicable).

Visit Redundancy for information on redundancy obligations.

Severance pay – Employers who employ 15 or more employees

Employers covered by this award who employ 15 or more employees must pay severance pay when an employee is made redundant, as outlined in the table below.

Period of continuous service*	Number of weeks severance pay
Less than 1 year	Nil
1 year and less than 2 years	4 weeks
2 years and less than 3 years	6 weeks
3 years and less than 4 years	7 weeks
4 years and less than 5 years	8 weeks

6 years and less than 7 years	11 weeks
7 years and less than 8 years	13 weeks
8 years and less than 9 years	14 weeks
9 years and less than 10 years	16 weeks
10 years and over	12 weeks

*An employee's period of continuous service includes any service with that business under a previous employer where there has been a transfer of the business.

Employers who employ less than 15 employees are not required to make severance payments to redundant employees.

These severance pay requirements do not apply to probationary employees, apprentices and trainees, casual and contract employees or employees terminated due to serious misconduct or for other reasons not related to redundancy.

Redundancy pay is calculated based on the applicable number of weeks' severance multiplied by ordinary time earnings. Ordinary time earnings excludes overtime, penalty rates, and allowances.

If the employee resigns during the notice period, they are entitled to the same severance pay they would receive if they had worked until the end of the notice period. However, in this circumstance the employee is not entitled to payment in lieu of notice.

Visit Redundancy for more information on redundancy payments.

Payslips and record keeping requirements

Employers must provide all employees with a pay slip, and must keep employment records as required by state employment law. There are penalties for not keeping records and not providing a pay slip.

Payslips

Employers need to provide a pay slip to each employee within one working day of paying the employee for work performed. The employer can decide whether to give a hard copy or electronic form of the pay slip.

A pay slip needs to include the following information:

- the employer's name and Australian Business Number (if any);
- the employee's name;
- the period to which the pay slip relates;
- the date on which the payment referred to in the pay slip was made;
- the gross and net amounts of the payment, and any amount withheld as tax;
- any incentive based payment, or payment of a bonus, loading, penalty rates or another monetary allowance or separately identifiable entitlement;
- if an amount is deducted from the gross amount of the payment:
 - the name of the person in relation to whom or which the deduction was made;
 - if the deduction was paid into a fund or account - the name, or the name and number, of the fund or account; and
 - the purpose of the deduction;
- if the employee is paid at an hourly rate of pay:
 - the rate of pay for the employee's ordinary hours;
 - the number of hours worked during the period to which the pay slip relates; and
 - the amount of the payment made at that rate.
- if the employee is paid a weekly or an annual rate of pay – the rate as at the latest date to which the payment relates;
- if the employer is required to make superannuation contributions for the benefit of the employee:
 - the amount of each contribution that the employer made during the period to which the pay slip relates and the name, or the name and number, of any fund to which the contribution was made; or
 - the amounts of the contributions that the employer is liable to make in relation to the period to which the pay slip relates, and the name, or the name and number, of any fund to which the contributions will be made.

Employment records

Record keeping requirements

It is compulsory for all employers to keep employment records which include the following information:

- the employee's name and, if under 21 years of age, their date of birth;
- the employer's name and Australian Business Number (if any);
- the name of the WA award that applies (in this case the Fast Food Outlets Award);
- date the employee commenced employment with the employer;
- for each day of work:
 - the time at which the employee started and finished work;
 - period/s for which the employee was paid; and
 - details of work breaks including meal breaks;
- for each pay period:
 - the employee's designation (such as full time, part time, casual) and employee classification;
 - the gross and net amounts paid to the employee;
 - any amount withheld as tax; and
 - all deductions from pay and the reasons for them;
- any incentive based payment, bonus, loading, penalty rates or other monetary allowance or entitlement;
- all leave taken, whether paid, partly paid or unpaid;
- the following matters relating to superannuation:
 - the date on which each superannuation contribution was made, the amount of the contributions, the period over which the contributions were made, the name of any fund to which a contribution was made;
 - how the employer worked out the amount of superannuation owed; and

- any choice made by the employee as to which fund their contributions are to be made and the date on which the choice was made;
- the information necessary for the calculation of and payment of long service leave under the Long Service Leave Act 1958. Employers are also required to comply with the record keeping requirements in the Long Service Leave Act 1958. Visit Long service leave for details;
- any other information necessary to show that the pay and benefits received by the employee comply with the WA award and other legal obligations such as employee entitlements under the Minimum Conditions of Employment Act 1993 or Long Service Leave Act 1958; and
- any other information required by the WA award to be recorded.

It is also compulsory to keep employment records that detail specific information regarding:

- termination related matters; and
- any supported wage system or a supported wage industrial instrument provision that applies to an employee with a disability.

If an employer makes a payment to an employee in cash, the employer must provide a record of the payment to the employee and ensure that a copy of the record of payment is kept as an employment record.
