Annexure A: Definitions

Dutiable value is the greater of:

- a) the consideration for the dutiable transaction including any GST payable or
- b) the unencumbered value of the dutiable transaction.

A foreign person is a foreign individual, foreign corporation or foreign trust.

Foreign individual means an individual who is not:

- a) an Australian citizen as defined in the Australian Citizenship Act 2007 (Cth) s3 or
- b) the holder of a permanent visa as defined in the Migration Act 1958 (Cth) s5(1) or
- c) the holder of a special category visa as defined in the Migration Act 1958 (Cth) s5(1).

A permanent visa is a visa to remain in Australia indefinitely. Holders of permanent visas are commonly referred to as Australian permanent residents.

Temporary visas, including those that allow the visa holder to remain indefinitely but are subject to the happening of a certain event (such as assessment of their permanent visa application) or only apply while the visa holder has a specified status, are not permanent visas. Common examples of visas that provide the right to remain indefinitely, but are not permanent visas include:

- Partner (temporary) visa – subclass 820
- Bridging visas A, B, C and E - subclasses 010, 020, 030, 050, 051

If you are uncertain about your visa status, we recommend contacting the Department of Home Affairs to confirm if your visa is a permanent or temporary visa under section 30(1) or 30(2) of the Migration Act 1958.

Foreign corporation means:

- a) a corporation that was incorporated outside Australia or
- b) a corporation in which foreign persons have a controlling interest.

Foreign persons are taken to have a controlling interest in a corporation if one or more foreign persons or their associates control (directly or indirectly) at least 50 per cent of the voting power or potential voting power,¹ or hold at least 50 per cent of the issued shares in the corporation.

To determine whether foreign persons have a controlling interest in a corporation, all relevant interests of foreign persons and their associates must be aggregated, regardless of whether the associates are foreign persons.

A person is an associate of another person if they are:

- a) family members² or
- b) partners in the same partnership or
- c) related corporations³ or
- d) trustees of trusts sharing a common beneficiary or
- e) an individual and a corporation where that individual is a majority shareholder, director or secretary of the corporation (or a related corporation) or
- f) a trustee and a beneficiary of the same trust or
- g) a corporation and a trustee of a trust where the corporation or its majority shareholder, director or secretary is a beneficiary or
- h) a corporation and a trustee of a trust where a related corporation is a beneficiary.

² Duties Act 2008 s 100.

³ Related corporation has the same meaning as related body corporate, as defined in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) s 50.

If a beneficiary of a trust, other than a unit trust scheme or a discretionary trust, is an associate of a person, the trustee of the trust is also treated as an associate of that person.

Foreign trust means:

- a) a discretionary trust controlled by a foreign person or
- b) a discretionary trust if one or more foreign persons that are takers in default, together with their associates, hold at least 50 per cent in the discretionary trust or
- c) a trust other than a discretionary trust if one or more foreign persons, together with their associates, hold beneficial interests in at least 50 per cent of the income or property of the trust.

A person controls a discretionary trust if they are in a position to influence, either directly or indirectly, the vesting of the capital of the trust property or the distribution of income from the trust property (e.g. trustee or appointer of the trust).

Residential property means:

- a) land in Western Australia that is, is capable of being, or is intended to be, used solely or dominantly for residential purposes
- b) vacant or substantially vacant land in Western Australia that is zoned solely for residential purposes or
- c) any estate or interest in land as described in (a) or (b).⁴

Land capable of being used solely or dominantly for residential purposes includes any land on which there is a dwelling which may lawfully be used as a residence.

Land intended to be used solely or dominantly for residential purposes includes:

- a) land on which there is a partially constructed building that a person intends to complete so that it becomes residential property
- b) land on which there is a building or part of a building that a person intends to convert into residential property
- c) land on which a person intends to construct residential property
- d) land a person intends to subdivide for the purposes of constructing a residential property or enabling another person to construct residential property on the land.

Residential property excludes:

- a) land that is intended to be used solely or dominantly for the purposes of an aged care facility as defined in the Land Tax Assessment Act 2002 s38A(1)
- b) land that is intended to be used solely or dominantly for the purposes of commercial residential premises⁵ as defined in the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 (Cth) s191-1
- c) land that is intended to be used solely or dominantly for the purposes of a retirement village as defined in the Retirement Villages Act 1992 s3(1)
- d) an easement
- e) a security interest and
- f) a carbon right or carbon covenant registered under the Carbon Rights Act 2003.

For practical examples and a more comprehensive definition of the terms foreign person and residential property, please see the 'Foreign Transfer Duty' Fact Sheet available on our website.

⁴ This includes an option to acquire residential property and an interest in a partnership holding residential property.

⁵ Includes hotels, motels, inns, hostels and boarding houses. For a full definition see A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 (Cth) s 191-1.
