

Ausco Group, comprising Ausco Products and Ausco Marine, is a third-generation West Australian engineering and advanced manufacturing company delivering sovereign capability for defence, maritime and remote operations.

With 80 years of engineering heritage and modern digital manufacturing capability, we design, develop and produce mission-critical mechanical and electro-mechanical systems for harsh environments. Our vertically integrated capability spans concept development, engineering design, multi-axis CNC machining, fabrication, prototyping, integration and production of deployable systems.

PRODUCTS / CASE STUDIES

GANNETDIVE LRX

Modular Launch & Recovery System: Vessel-agnostic launch and recovery system for AUVs, ROVs, and autonomous maritime systems.

PROJECT MANTA RAY

Advanced Command Control Communications for Subsea Systems: Integrated communications framework linking seabed nodes, autonomous underwater vehicles, surface platforms, and command systems.

AMAS INTELLIGENT OCEAN BUOY SYSTEMS

Autonomous maritime platforms enabling command, control, and communications for unmanned maritime systems.

DISCRIMINATORS

- 80 years of engineering excellence supporting defence and offshore industries
- Integrated engineering and manufacturing capability enabling rapid system development
- Specialists in maritime autonomy infrastructure, including launch & recovery systems and subsea platforms
- Advanced multi-axis CNC machining and fabrication for mission-critical components
- Agile development partner for emerging defence technologies
- Sovereign Australian capability supporting AUKUS supply chains
